

Stellan Hertegård MD PhD

Adjunct Professor

Karolinska Institutet. Department of Otorhinolaryngology- Phoniatic section.

Karolinska University Hospital and ENT Clinic Läkarhuset Odenplan

Stockholm. Sweden

Stellan Hertegård MD, PhD , Adjunct Professor in Phoniatics at Karolinska Institutet and Senior Consultant in Phoniatics and Laryngology at Karolinska University Hospital Stockholm Sweden. Stellan Hertegård is specialized in the diagnostics and treatment of all types of voice and swallowing disorders. His research area has focused around 2 main directions; development of methods for diagnosis of voice disorders and quantification of voice function, in particular development of high speed imaging as a clinical tool. Another direction is the development of bio-implants for treatment of vocal fold disorders and since 2004 development of stem cell therapy for treatment of vocal fold scarring, a clinical trial on humans is ongoing.